FRANCO-BRITISH AMITY.

Why Not a Definite Alliance?

Paris. December 3.

The papers are devoting special atention to a speech delivered y the former British Ambassador to Paris (Earl Derby) before the Anchester Chamber of Commerce. Especially noticed is the Earl's FAR EASTERNERS WANT BABIES. Wilson, who beat Lawrence and ground, the Carlisle starting the tatement that Franco-British amity is essential to both nations and hat the time has come for them to conclude a formal Alliance. It s admitted that the Earl is quite right when stating that war would ot have broken out if instead of an Entente there had been in 1914 definite Alliance. Lord Berby, was especially emphatic in exposng the mischievous insinuations which are periodically circulated by ertain sections of the Press about the so-called Imperialistic or ggresssive tendencies of the French Government. Lord Derby tated that no French Cabinet inclining towards an aggressive olicy of any sort could stand for one single day. Such is the naked ruth.—Havas.

London, Dec. 2. A drastic change has been made in the Government of Ireland Bill by the House of Lords in Committee stage by the adoption of amendnents, in the course of which the Government was defeated. The House by 120 votes to 36 passed an amendment to create a Senate in Southern Ireland in order to safeguard southern Unionists, after the Lord Chancellor, on behalf of the Government, had opposed it and declared it would destroy the representative character of the first Chamber. A similar amendment, providing a similar Senate for the North of Ireland, was then carried without division, as also was an amendment by 48 votes to 84, despite protest by the Lord Chancellor. that the Council of Ireland, provided by the Bill, should consist of the two foregoing Senates. ## SITUATION IN ARMENIA.

Geneva, Dec. 2. The Council of the League of Nations recently telegraphed to various Governments inviting co-operation to terminate hostilities in Armenia, and replies have been received from President Wilson, Brazil and Spain, expressing their readiness to help in mediation. Lord Robert Cecil urged in the event of negotiations breaking down, the winter should be employed in materially helping Armenia, postponing intervention till the spring.

THE ENTENTE.

London, Dec. 3. A strongly Francophile speech was made by the ex-Ambassador Lord Derby at a luncheon given him by Manchester Chamber of Commerce, wherein he appealed for an Anglo-French alliance. He believed it was the greatest if not the only security for the future peace of the world. He indignantly denied that France was militaristic. As regards France's suspicions of England's weakening on the recovery of reparations, he was of opinion that Germany was able to pay a great deal more than people think. He criticised a certain section of the French press engaging in anti-British attacks, and mentioned one prominent French journalist whom he, Lord Derby, considered deserved the Iron Cross for trying to make an Anglo-French split. He appealed to the press not to attack the good faith of the Governments and suggested the institution of an Ambassadors' Conference on the lines of the Peace Treaty to deal with Anglo-French

PILFERING AT THE DOCKS.

London, Dec. 2. The Pilferage Committee of the London Chamber of Commerce has sent a letter to the Home Secretary requesting him to receive a deputation, emphasising the alarming growth of pilfering cargoes to and from steamers, which has increased two thousand per cent_ since 1913, one shipping company losing a quarter of a million sterling annually. Consequently insurance costs have risen enormously, and I'ts, for the burden ultimately falls on the consumer. A police expert declared that fifty per cent. of the thefts occur before the goods are loaded on the steamers. The letter calls attention to the most serious inadequacy of the detective patrol and police services of the Port of London, and urges the establishment of a special force. Drastic steps are imperative to combat the roberries which have assumed a gigantic scale and are the work of organised gangs of thieves and receivers. It concludes that unless the strongest action is taken the thefts will undermine the moral fibre of the nation and the commercial reputation of the country and business will gradually pass into the hands of other nations.

CHINESE STUDENTS IN BRITAIN.

London, Dec. 4. The Chinese Minister, the "Daily Mail" says, refers to the desirability of encouraging the presence of Chinese students in . Britain and shows that when they go home all are regarded as "missionaries of trade." As dwells on the thoroughness of the organisa tion of the United States in attracting Chinese students: Mr. Sze said that the British Foreign Office was thoroughly sympathetic and realises the importance of the question. He hoped a similar system could be established here as in the United States, where Chinese, after receiving training in United States works, return home, to join American branches in China. The "Daily Mail" supports these views and says Chins perhaps offers the most magnificent market in the world. It believes it will equally pay British manufacturers to follow the United States example and it shows that there are only about 270 Chinese students in England as compared with some thousands in the United States. It submits that this should be changed.

PLAGUE IN FRANCE.

THE UNEMPLOYED.

London, Nov. 30. The number of unemployed in England has swelled as a result of a ballot of employers of the American section of the Lancashire cotton trade, deciding to reduce the weekly working hours from fortyeight to twenty-four. A hundred thousand operatives are affected. A deputation representing the employers and employees will wait on Mr. Macnamara on the 8th inst. to urge action to diminish unemployment hardships.

HONGKONG, MONDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1920.

OLD RIVALS.

It is a pleasant relief to turn at times from the usual daily topics such as politics and commerce to the cultural side of life, and this train of thought was awakened in us the other day when reading a notice of the annual Harveian Oration, which this year was delivered by Sir Frederick Andrewes, who occupies the chair of Pathology at London University. The lecturer set himself to develop Prof Flinders Petrie's proposition that there is a fairly well-marked sequence in the development of the various branches of human activity. Art was the first to reach the highest point; literature! followed; while science was last of all in its development. The lastnamed is still advancing rapidly with us, but as a race we are now quite incapable of Salisbury Cathedral, Magdalen Tower, or Henry VII's Chapel, declared the lecturer, who concluded: "Let students consider the recent work at Cambridge on the structure of the atom and then go back and book at the statue of Sir Wilfrid Hawson on the Embankment." This was by way of clinching a comparison the object of which was to demonstrate that (contemporary) art has different it might all have been! been outdistanced by science. The task was not a difficult one. since the position, which is largely in the nature of the case, was recognised anterior to Professor Flinders Petrie.

To begin with. Greece gave us such a phenomenal start-off in People who look upon world art and letters, while remaining relatively barren in science, that peace as an irridescent dream the scales were weighted in advance. Irrespective of this, there is are fond of using one stock phrase the long-standing hypothesis that ar: flourishes best in an earlier to the effect that foreigners will this stage of civilisation, where the elemental emotions obtain freer always hate each other and thus play. Three centuries back Milton feared that he "had been born there will always be European ture including $100 a month to an age too late." The critic might interject an objection that we wars. They would point out, in the Bishop to make good some of have lately seen the elemental passions let loose on a scale that support of their argument, that:beggars Marathon or the battle of the Metaurus without any great art issuing. We will not attempt now to answer a query of such! magnitude. Whether the advance of civilisation is or is not inimical to art, it is certainly advantageous to science—of which, indeed, it is in large measure the manifestation. Science is by its nature cumulative, hence progressive; the latest worker in the field of research is heir to all his predecessors. To take as an example the department in which Sir Frederick is directly interested; the most remote country practitioner of to-day, benefitting by the labours of innumerable investigators, is a living encyclopaedia of medical science that was a sealed book to Hippocrates or Galen. The artist, conversely, stands upon his own basis. Mere technique he may acquire from others; the divine essence out of which a work of art is created must emanate from his own being. Schopenhauer expresses the contrast in some such terms as these: "A science anybody can learn-one with more, another with less facility; in Art, which has to do not merely with the reasoning powers but with the inmost nature of man, each one counts only for what he is in himself."

Such in broad outline appears to be the position, yet there is surely an arbitrary element in these generalisations. Looking at the Renaissance constellation of painters or the galaxy of eighteenth-century composers, one might say that Art flowers when she so wills; while the wonders of science, especially of applied science, are so essentially a modern achievement as to stand, it might be contended, outside of able degree, the expression of 'sequence." #### An Unpleasant Experience.

Sir, You had in your newspaper a few nights ago a paragraph "European attacked", or something to that effect, in was myself and, thinking the rather exceptional experience, if correctly described, might be useful as a warning to others, I venture briefly to state what actually took place.

I was sitting, as usual, just outside my front entrance at about 7.30 p.m. waiting for some of my near neighbours to join me for an hour's chat, which has been a long established after-dinner custom in Moreton Terrace, when a young Chinese, apparently of the respectable class, in quite ordinary dress, was approaching from the left at a leisurely pace. in whom I took no interest whatever, but after, as thought, he had gone by. I suddenly felt something pressing gently on my face covering my eyes, nose and mouth completely and emitting a strong smell of pepper. I at once tumbleu to the situation, rising quickly, gripping my stick and thrusting myself forward, but I found that three senses had been pur out of action, for I could neither see. smell nor taste anything but proof the pepper as possible, when I did manage to open my eyes I discovered that the gentleman was very modestly retiringundoubtedly as the better part of

My first thoughts were for my eyes, as I knew it would be impossible to follow in pursuit, unable to see properly. again, to save my sight was of much greater importance than to he catch the culprit, regardles of what he might have stolen. Had I tried to follow. I should have been drawn right into the hands of confederates, two of whom were lurking in the dark some distance away on the Polo Ground-warned of the failure by two hand-I at once went into the house and placed my face in a basin of | cold water, which in a few minutes restored sight almost to normal. I then reported the matter to the Police Officer in charge of No. 2 Station, Wanchai, leaving my highly seasonest coat as an exhibit. Finally, I could do little more than laugh with my | friends, as an old resident, over an experience which I considered unique -but a decided gain.

LITTLE FOLKS' CORNER.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS.

TINGALING DISAPPEARS.

Oliver Oriole finished his poem and Mr. Tingaling's suit at the same instant. "There!" said he. "That's done. Now I'm sure i will fit better since I put the guesets into it, and the fairy landlord can breathe better. But if his tummy gets any fatter. I can't fix it again, for I have no more material.

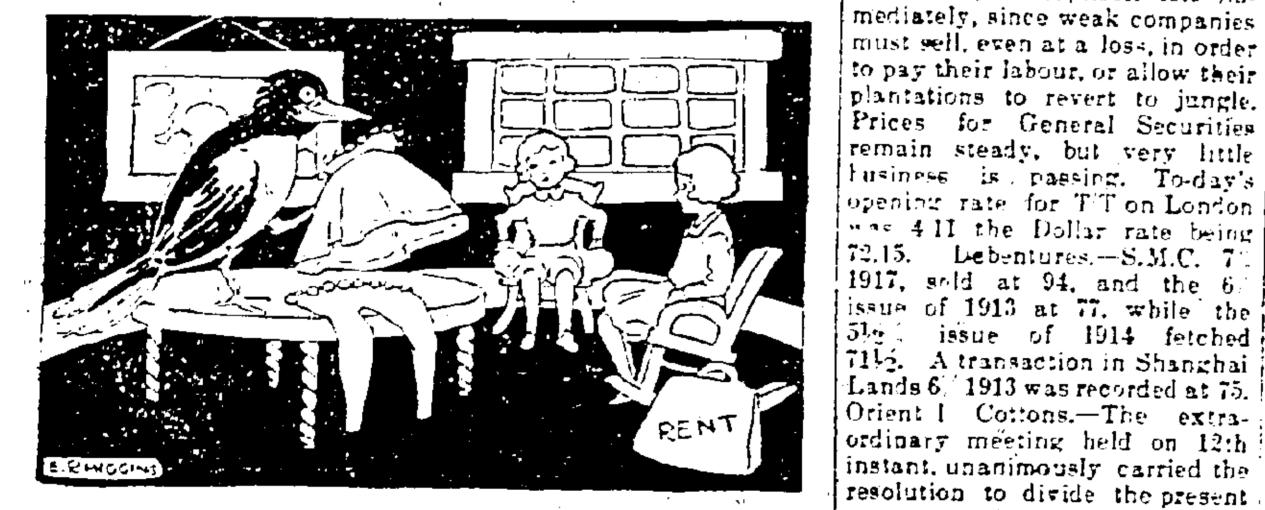

So he called to his wife to rap at Mr. Tingaling's door and to tell him that he could get up now, as his clothes were finished.

Nick and Naney, the twins, gathered up the renthouk and the big pocketbook and the lead pencil and prepared to leave as soon as Tingaling was dressed.

But suddenly Mrs. Oriole burst in with the news that Mr. Tingaling wasn't in the spare room at all, nor in fact in any other room, clothes or no clothes,

"Oh, he's just sound asleep! ' declared her husband. "You that the future of Rubber appears didn't hammerfoud enough. I'll go myself."

Which he did, but in a few minutes he returned looking worried "It's a fact!" be exclaimed. "The fairy landford has disappeared

"Now I'm sure it will fit better since I put the gussets into it," said Oliver Oriole, "and the fairy landlord can breathe better."

He isn't in the house at all. I've looked into every room and cup board, and the clothes-hamper, and the trunk, and even up the chimney, and he isn't anywhere."

The twins didn't know what to do then. They thought at first

"Well," said the Mushroom, jumping out of Nancy's pocket. " I think you'd better stay here, as you must take care of the rent cordially invited... money in the big pocketbook until Tingaling is found, or at least until the Fairy Queen can find another landlord for the Land-of-Dear-Knows-Where.

As usual he was right. So Nancy and Nick decided to stay where they were in Maple-Tree Flats until Tingaling was found.

(To be continued to-morrow.)

LARGE OILFIELD IN FRANCE

BRITISH CAPITAL FOR CHINA. With a capital of £8,000, company has been floated in London to acquire oil-bearing change at the office of the Liquilands, mines, mineral and other properties in China and Indo-Chins.

PACIFIC COAST INDUSTRY. that industry on the Pacific Coast is theatened by the exhaustion of the stock of pure oil unless hydro-electric power is obtained to replace it.

YAWATA STEEL WORKS. project of the Yawata Steel tinued in the Amsterdam of warships, will not materialise to the desired output 90,000 ton- a year, for at least two years.

that Great Britain's old role of bunker-coal supplier to the rest of the rest of the world seems to be played out, and that the working policy of both American and European miners appears to be market towards the East, where labour is so cheap that it even pays to ship coal from East Asia to Scandinavia.

One method of solving the [23, 47, and 53, per annum reengine-fuel problam is reported specifically. from the Hawaiian Islancs, where, it is stated, recourse is being had to molasses. The fuel. which was invented by a chemist on one of the big sugar plantations on the island of Maui, is known as "motor-alcohol," and is reported to give very satisfactory results. It is stated that there are 135,000 tons of molasses available, enough to produce about 9,000,000 gallons of fuel. Numbers of motor vehicles are running on this variety of power alcohol, and it is claimed I that in many respects it gives bet ter results than petrol, affording a i greater mileage per gallon, easier starting and being free from carbon.

SHANGHAI SHARE MARKET. Mersis, A. T. Anderson & Co's Weekly Share Circular, under date Shanghai, November, states: Two weeks have elapsed since we last addressed you, but the volume of business transacted during the interval might easily have been arranged in a single day. The slight improvement manifested in Cottons at the beginning of the month proved to be only a flash in the par and faded away as outport visitors to the local racemeeting had been supplied. The fall in sterling exchange is much more than counterbalanced from the Rubber shareholders' point of view by the drop in the price of the commodity, and the weakness of the Singapore Rubber-market is giving Rubber Company Directors furiously to think. With a purchasing price lower than that at which a number of companies can produce, it cannot be denied somewhat gloomy, and it must be remembered that the Law of Supply and Demand does not; in this case, make itself felt immediately, since weak companies must sell, even at a loss, in order to pay their labour, or allow their plantations to revert to jungle. #### BOXING.

How Carpentier Has Improved.

F. B. Wilson writes in a Home paper:-The real business international sport has been Georges Carpentier's fight with Battling Levinsky Levinsky has a record, and a fine one. It is true that, Jack Dempsey knocked him out, and did it in Shanghai-Per SOMALI, 7th quick time. Then, however, it was rated as a fluke by some of Europe (via Negapatam)-Per the other side specialists at any

No one who naw Carpentier beat Straits-Per RANGOON M., 8th Wells at the National Sporting Club will forget that scrap. It Shanghai and Japan-Per KAMO was not that Carpentier won, or even how he won. It was his Straits-Per. SHIDZUOKA M. temperament in the ring. Old timers spoke of Jem Mace and Japan-Per FUSHIMI M., 10th his attitude before the fun-it was to him-commenced. Car- Europe (via Negapatam)-Per pentier had a beaten man in front of him that night, a man beaten by personality; and he proceeded to demolish him. But, had they given Wells a bottle of brandy in his dressingroom-Fitzsimmons would have-Carpentier would Hollow and Bangkok-Per have required to have fought a different fight.

Carpentier is the most under- Fort Bayard-Per CHUEN ON. Wharf. rated fighter in the world. There is only one really bad show he Quinhon and Tourane-Per has ever put up, and that was against Gunboat Smith. Smith Straits. Bangkok. Calcutta & should have won that fight; indeed, good judges still maintain he did win it. He should have Swatow & Bangkok-Per won inside ten rounds, barring that clever piece of work for Straits. Bangkok, Caylon, Singapore and Saigon. which Descamps was partly responsible.

A BIGGER PUNCH.

But the Carpentiar of to-day would have beaten the Carpentier of that day inside three rounds. He has three times "the devil" in him that he had Japan via Kobe, Canada, then, and a much bigger punch. The element of surprise is his, as Joe Backett could tell you. And the punch is more exactly timed than any one of his weight has ever concealed it. Before the Beckett fight, when I saw him at the National Sporting Club, he looked pale and drawn, and one roold almost believe the story that he had the seeds of consumption in him. "Off the stage," of course, he is a comparatively small man-thus fulfilling the old-timers saw that "a fighter strips twice as looks." When the two young officers carried him Amoy-PerVAN WA ERWIJCK. FORECAST FOR THE 24 HOURS through the lounge of the hotel after his big win against Beckett, it looked as if two big men in the University boat were chairing "the cox.

Now they could not possibly have carried big. Fred Fultonwho also but up at the same botel -in that way. Nor Victor M'Laglen, for that matter. M'Laglen paid the penalty of age against Arthur Townley at the Club, and will do well to stop boxing now and carry on with the film work; in which, by the way, everyone wishes him the best of luck and a waggon-load of gold pieces. His stamina has gone: but anyway he could never have been a great fighter, for he does not enjoy hitting the other fellow as hard as he is capable of doing. The little harder is the mark of a champion, however sorry he may be for the other fellow afterwards. The big point is to be sorry after-Wards!

T revert once more to Carpentier. It is definitely stated that he was not fit when he fought Levinsky. That is quite believable and it is to be hoped that he will study that point very seriously. The climate in America is a very treacherous one, and more treacherous at certain seasons of the year to a foreigner than in others. If one looks up the record of visitors to America. not only in boxing but in very many other sports, one finds that the "Invaders" have been miles -their form-in the unaccountable manner. Covey, at real tennis, was Shanghai, N. China & Japanone of the biggest examples.

In a sense Carpentier is English as well as French in his Swatow, Amoy and Keelungfight for the championship of the world. Not only that there will be English money on him: indeed, that is little, comparative- | Swatow, Amoy & Foochow-Per ly. But, against their wish to a great extent, English sportsmen Shanghai, N. China, Japan. who could not believe in him have been forced to do so, and now do so whole-heartedly. To this extent; though he may lose, Carpenter, fit and well, is a worthy competitor for a cham-Straits. pionship in these days as a possible winner and not snatcher at a £30,000 loser's end for a quicle knock-out.
